Nobody Here by That Name

(Tony Arata, Pete Wasner)

I can tell by looking at the shadows across the wall
Without picking up who it is who decided to call
It's late and you're all tore down
You woke up, darling, and found
You've run another one off
And you want somebody to blame
But there's nobody here by that name

While you carry on about some other who broke your heart
I remember the day that you tore my world apart
Everything I could want was mine
I'd have loved you till the end of time
But it's too late now, honey, ain't it a shame
How there's nobody here by that name

You want somebody to help you
You want somebody to tell you
They'll play along as long as you will play
Looking for one more fool
Who will never mind the rules of the game
But there's nobody here by that name
